EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

What this edition shows

- This edition covers 1 retail business at 1 store location, observed online. It is not a survey of prices across Saint Lucia.
- 238 of 7,324 observed products changed price (3.2%). Of the 6,721 comparable products, 6,483 held the price already recorded for them.
- Increases and decreases split 183 up, 55 down.
- The typical increase was +7.8%, and 176 of the 238 changes set a new recorded high for that product.
- Increases clustered: 1 brand line accounts for 3 of the 183 increases, which a category view alone would not reveal.
- The fixed basket of 2,385 continuously observed products cost +0.82% relative to the first qualifying observation.
- Comparisons span 6 windows of 26 to 125 days, so the changes here are not measured over one uniform period.

1 Coverage and comparability

What was observed, and what it does not cover

This edition draws on prices published online by 1 retail business, 1 store location. It is not a survey of retail prices across Saint Lucia, and nothing here should be read as describing what a product costs anywhere else on the island.

1 Retail business observed	1 Store location	7,324 Products observed
--------------------------------------	----------------------------	-----------------------------------

HOW THE TOTAL RECONCILES

Every observed product falls into exactly one of three groups. Products seen for the first time are kept out of the unchanged count, because there is no earlier price to compare them with.

Group	Products	Share of observed
Comparable, price unchanged	6,483	88.5%
Comparable, price changed	238	3.2%
Observed for the first time	603	8.2%
All products observed	7,324	100.0%

So 238 of the 6,721 products that could be compared changed price - 3.54% of comparable products. The remaining 6,483 held the price already recorded for them.

Prices are read from public pages that anyone can view in a browser. Because they come from a single business at a single location, they describe that shopfront only - not a market, a parish, or the country. This is not inflation, a consumer price index, a cost-of-living measure, or an official statistic.

2 How prices moved

The distribution, and movement against each product's own record

Ranking the biggest movers makes any update look dramatic. The middle of the set is calmer: the typical increase was +7.8% and the typical decrease -7.0%. Half of all increases fell between +4.5% and +11.1%.

Measure	Increases	Decreases
Products	183	55
Median move	7.8%	7.0%
Middle half	4.5% to 11.1%	3.3% to 15.3%
Largest move	98.2%	35.0%

NEW RECORDED HIGHS AND LOWS

Counting increases against decreases treats a small rise the same as a move past everything previously recorded. Of the 238 products that changed, 176 finished at the highest price this tracker has recorded for them and 45 at the lowest.

New recorded high: 176

New recorded low: 45

“Recorded high” means the highest price this tracker has observed, not an all-time shelf price. A product observed only a few times reaches a new recorded extreme easily.

3 Largest recorded movements

The biggest increases and decreases

Ranked by percentage change, with the dollar move as a tie-break so a large percentage on a low-priced item still shows what it costs in cash.

Ranking is by size of movement only. This report records that a price changed; it does not establish why.

4 Categories and brands

Compare rates first, then look for concentration

Read the rate column first. A raw count is driven by how many products a category holds, so changes per 100 observed products is what makes categories of different sizes comparable with each other.

Changed products per 100 observed in each category

Category	Observed	Changed	Up	Down	Per 100
Household	931	70	70	0	7.8
Beverages	411	20	6	14	6.8
Produce	207	13	9	4	6.5
Pantry & Canned Goods	1,457	56	51	5	4.7
Personal Care	1,233	42	16	26	3.5
Meat & Fish	183	4	4	0	2.3
Frozen Foods	340	7	6	1	2.1
Snacks	782	14	14	0	1.8

BRAND CONCENTRATION AMONG INCREASES

Increases did not spread evenly. Fabuloso alone accounts for 3 of the 183 increases (1.6%), and 3 increases (1.6%) come from just 1 brand lines. A category view alone would report this as one category moving.

Brand line	Products	Share	Median move	Main category
Fabuloso	3	1.6%	+10.2%	Household

Brands are matched from a curated list of product-name prefixes, never split automatically - words such as “Imported” and “Local” describe origin, not a brand. A shared prefix shows products branded alike; it is not evidence about what any manufacturer, distributor, or retailer decided.

5 Fixed basket

The same products across every qualifying observation

Counting how many products changed says nothing about what the changes cost. This basket holds the 2,385 products with a recorded price in every qualifying observation, so the same items are compared at every point and the total cannot move because the product mix changed. Its combined cost has risen 0.82% since Jun 13, 2026.

Basket cost indexed to the first qualifying observation = 100

Observation	Basket cost	Index	Change from first
Jun 13, 2026	$43,507.68	100.00	0.00%

Oct 24, 2026	$43,864.68	100.82	+0.82%

An unweighted total of recorded shelf prices from a single retail business. It is a continuity measure for this tracker - not inflation, not a consumer price index, and not a household cost-of-living measure. It applies no spending weights and covers only continuously observed products.

6 Not observed in this update

Products that did not appear this time

An update also changes which products appear at all. 603 products were observed here for the first time, while 957 products with an earlier recorded price were not observed in this update.

Category	Not observed this update	Share of not observed
Pantry & Canned Goods	182	19.0%
Personal Care	148	15.5%
Other	102	10.7%
Snacks	100	10.4%
Household	92	9.6%
Health & Pharmacy	74	7.7%
Dairy & Eggs	66	6.9%
Beverages	56	5.9%
Frozen Foods	43	4.5%
Grains & Cereals	39	4.1%

This section says “not observed” rather than that a product was discontinued. A missing product may be unavailable, renamed, repackaged, or simply absent from the pages read that day. Products keep their last recorded price until they are observed again.

7 Comparison timing

Why there is no single comparison date

There is no single comparison date for every product. Each is compared with its own most recent recorded price, so the changes in this edition are measured over 6 different windows spanning 26 to 125 days. A longer gap gives a product more time to record a different price, so the windows are not directly comparable with each other.

Previous observation	Products	Share	Elapsed
Sep 28, 2026	186	78.2%	26 days
Sep 1, 2026	42	17.6%	53 days
Aug 16, 2026	1	0.4%	69 days
Aug 1, 2026	2	0.8%	84 days
Jul 2, 2026	5	2.1%	114 days
Jun 21, 2026	2	0.8%	125 days

8 Methodology and publication controls

How each edition is prepared and checked

HOW EACH EDITION IS PREPARED

- 1. Calculate the facts Every headline figure, table, and chart value is computed from the validated price data. Nothing is typed by hand.
- 2. Check the numbers The edition is blocked if totals, movement ranges, basket membership, or coverage labels do not reconcile.
- 3. Build the evidence Tables and charts are built from the same validated facts that feed the written commentary.
- 4. Write the commentary The commentary summarises validated facts. It does not recalculate headline figures and does not assert why a price moved.
- 5. Keep an audit trail The facts, source fingerprint, template version, and final PDF are stored together so any edition can be reproduced.

CHECKS REQUIRED BEFORE PUBLICATION

- Increases and decreases must together account for every changed product.
- Unchanged comparable, changed comparable, and first-observed products must add up to all products observed.
- The movement buckets must account for every increase and every decrease.
- New recorded highs and lows cannot exceed the number of changed products.
- Any statement about brand concentration must use the values shown in the brand table.
- A change list may be called complete only when every changed product is included.
- The fixed basket must hold the same products across the whole series shown.
- The number of businesses and locations observed must be stated wherever coverage could be misread as island-wide.

WHAT THIS EDITION DOES NOT SHOW

- Prices at any business or location other than those listed under coverage.
- Official inflation, a consumer price index, or a cost-of-living measure.
- Why a price changed, or whether it was a promotion, a pass-through, or an error.
- Household spending weights, or availability beyond the pages observed.
